and performances by participants and instructors

August 12-19, 2017

Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, MA, USA

www.arabicmusicretreat.org

Arab musician and composer Simon Shaheen invites students, performers, and scholars of Arabic music to the Twenty First Annual Arabic Music Retreat at Mount Holyoke College. The Retreat is honored to present an accomplished faculty roster including Associate Director Dr. A.J. Racy. This year we welcome back Charbel Rouhana from Lebanon.

The Retreat includes seven days of Arabic music instruction in both chamber music and large orchestra performance. The Retreat also offers private lessons and classes in Arabic music theory, analysis, and ear training. The structured format, along with the relaxed academic atmosphere of Mount Holyoke's beautiful rural campus, makes the Retreat an ideal setting for the serious study of Arabic music.

Classes

Seven days of instruction in Arabic music performance, ear training, theory, and history. Two levels of theory classes, beginners and advanced, will be offered. The Retreat will concentrate on daily group classes in Arabic chamber music, coached by a faculty instructor. These classes will help students experience key elements of Arabic music performance such as musical communication, maqam intonation, dynamics, style, and interpretation. Primary instruments of instruction will be: the 'ud (Arabic lute), violin, nay (end-blown reed flute), qanun (Arabic zither), buzuq, voice, and percussion instruments such as the riqq (tambourine), tablah (goblet-shaped drum) and tar (frame drum). Private lessons will be given every other day.

Students

Participants should be able to read western music notation, or learn quickly by ear. Advanced and accomplished music students who are interested in Arabic music but are relatively new to its instruments are also encouraged to attend. Participants under 18 years old must be accompanied by an adult family member. If you have any questions, please contact us.
